

WE NOMINATE

Walker Woods Stevenson Jr., a veteran in the growing army of Princeton-New York commuters and a lifelong resident of New Jersey, who will be in the spotlight this weekend as some 1,200 Princeton University alumni converge upon Nassau Street, and the Dillon Gymnasium, for the annual mid-winter gathering of the University's long-working alumni volunteers. It will be the primary responsibility of the 47-year old Stevenson, now in his second winter as president of the 32,000-member National Alumni Association, to keep a day-long program moving on schedule—in spite of the pressures generated by a spate of committee reports, prize awards and formal addresses.

In an age when both quantity and quality education are linked more closely than ever before with the question of national survival, and with the advancement of the Free World's best interests, Stevenson, an able investment banker, has acted to concentrate his extra-curricular activities in the area of privately sustained education. Closely identified with the University ever since he completed his undergraduate studies with the Class of 1935, he has also presided over the Lawrenceville School's alumni association, has served six years on the Board of Trustees of Miss Fine's School and has even been president of the Board of Trustees of the Princeton Ballet Society.

Stevenson, who moved to Princeton from Montclair shortly after World War II, first to Griggstown and five years ago to 12 Library Place in the Borough, personifies the interests and efforts of the core of men and women upon whom has fallen a large share of responsibility for the on-going development of colleges and universities. Over the past quarter-century Stevenson, one of 38 members of his family to attend Princeton and great-great-grandson of John Witherspoon, Signer of the Declaration of Independence and sixth president of the College of New Jersey (1768-1794), has devoted 1,000's upon 1,000's of hours to an infinite variety of alumni offices.

While giving to Princeton, in the words of a classmate, as much "time and energy" as any living alumnus, Stevenson has been markedly successful in his profession. Upon graduation, he joined the New York-based investment firm of Hemphill, Noyes & Company. He started out in the research department, became a securities salesman and, subsequently, an "assistant in production." By 1946, the year following his return from destroyer duty in the Pacific, he had been designated general sales manager; in 1952 he was elevated to a partnership, charged with the direction of branch offices now scattered through 26 cities.

Affiliated with the Air Force's First Interceptor Command as a civilian volunteer in the early stages of World War II, Stevenson qualified for the Navy late in 1943 and, appropriately enough, attended indoctrination School here on the University Campus. He made the transformation from Wall Street banker to Tactical Radar Officer in less than a year—in time to participate with distinction in the invasion of Okinawa aboard the USS Tolman. In 1950-51, with characteristic drive and determination, he shook off the spectre of tuberculosis, not permitting what he considered a "brief interruption" to limit the pace and scope of his enthusiasms.

For his contributions as a volunteer citizen deeply concerned with the well-being of education; for relishing opportunities for community service, whether offered by Princeton Hospital or by a locally sustained day school; for insisting that "what others have done for me" is more important than "what I might do for them"; he is Town Topics' nominee for

JOBS FOR TEENS

New Bureau Is Proposed. Princeton's teen age young people, who have been the object of solicitous concern by adults for many years because the community lacks many conventional recreation facilities, learned this week that they may have a chance to turn their leisure time to profit this time.

A committee working under the Council of Community Services has drawn up plans for a Youth Employment Service. This bureau would bring together young people who want after-school and summer jobs, and employers who could use a young helper for an hour or two every afternoon or during the summer.

"We have had enthusiastic response from everyone we have talked to," says Mrs.

Richard Schoch, chairman of the committee, "The Princeton Youth Council, under the Rev. Frank Huntington, has discussed it and they are very eager.

"The Chamber of Commerce endorses the idea, one service club is considering an initial gift of $500 to get us started, two schools have offered financial help if we need it, some schools have offered us the use of their guidance counselors, and the Y has said they will give us desk space."

Committee members emphasize that the Service is not yet in operation and that no fixed date has been set; however, there will be a meeting of the committee on Monday and its members hope that an early target date can be chosen at that time.

This is the way the Youth Employment Service would operate, according to present plans. Business firms and households would tell the Service what kind of help they would like to have. Young people (minimum age 13) would sign up with the Service, indicating in a general way what kinds of work they can do. The Service would screen its young applicants so that, as far as possible, the right boy or girl would be sent to apply for the right job.

"Nothing is so discouraging to a sensitive teen-ager as the first 'turn-down,'" Mrs. Schoch points out, "and we hope to keep that kind of thing to a minimum by screening."

The Service will not present the applicant with a job on a silver platter under glass. The boy or girl must interview the employer and work out all job arrangements without the help of the Service.

Working papers are required. They may be obtained at 12 years of age, for certain kinds of farm work, but usually they are not needed until at least 13. These papers are available through school guidance counselors.

What Can I Do? What kinds of jobs would open for young people in this eighth-through-twelfth grade bracket? For many years Princeton High School's commercial department has placed its students in offices where they can obtain valuable experience in clerical work. This new pro-going rate of pay? What's the legal situation in hiring these boys and girls? What are the age limits for certain kinds of jobs?

Service club members will be asked to work out a questionnaire which they can take back to their companies, asking what the possibilities are. The committee is convinced that there are plenty of teenagers willing to fill whatever positions are open.

THREE WITH A PLAN: A Youth Employment Service which would bring together young people who want a job and employers who want employees, is now being formed by a committee of Princeton citizens. Mrs. Rowan Boone, left, one of the prime movers of the new service, confers with Thomas Seraydarian, director of guidance at Princeton High School, and Mrs. Richard Schoch, chairman of the committee.

It has been estimated that 50 to 60 boys and girls at Witherspoon Street School would be interested in jobs, and that ten to 15 actually need the money for essentials. At Valley Road, Principal John F. McKenna says that 80 percent of the eighth grade boys and girls would be interested in earning money.

"These boys and girls need emotionally as well as financially, the rewards that a job affords," says Dr. McKenna. "They are past the point where they need to play all the time."

THIS Students Eager. No figures are available from Princeton High School, but Mr. Seraydarian has indicated that many students are keenly interested. Private schools have been approached, and have offered enthusiastic cooperation although they have no figures on the number of students who might be interested.

In setting up the Youth Employment Service, the committee has had the advice of Miss Harriet Arnold from the National Committee on the Employment of Youth. Miss Arnold came to Princeton in December to meet with the committee, representatives of various civic groups and the state employment service. (The committee hopes that the state may assign someone from the employment office to run the new service, but this is still uncertain.)

Cory Kammler

We were given a paraphrased quote out of HIGHWAYS OF HAPPINESS written by Dr. Paul Calvin Payne, which we thought you'd find interesting: "The weakness of New Year resolutions is that they reach too far. They do not jibe with the human fact that life can only be lived one day at a time. Good resolutions are hard enough to keep without making them harder. If you are going to start a new, better habit you'll do better to make the resolution every morning, keeping it for a day. If you fail 50 days out of 565 you still have a good score, 215 to 50, isn't that a lot better than to make a resolution for the year, and after the first lapse to say, 'Well, that one is out. One more resolution gone!' If we make truly mean business, every morning is a new beginning, not merely every New Year's Day."

Without knowing we were following the good Dr. Payne's advice, we've been practicing it for years in business, knowing that each day we either add to or take away from an earned reputation which we want to guard with our lives... and each day we resolve that we will serve you to your utmost economy and satisfaction. Please, come in soon!

ABOUT THAT EAGLE
The Post Office, it turns out that the Princeton Post Office eagle, discussed here last week, has arrows in both talons and is in both left and right talons and no olive branch at all.

An alert Princeton resident head President John F. Kennedy refer to the fact that the American eagle holds arrows in one set of talons and an olive branch in the other. When he glanced at the eagle over the Post Office doors, he noticed that the Princeton eagle holds arrows in both left and right talons and no olive branch at all.

FOR THE GOLDEN YEARS: A residential apartment community, designed to provide comfort, security and recreational areas for older people, has been proposed by a group of Princeton residents. The multiple-story apartment building has been designed for the new project by O. Kline Fulmer of Fulmer and Bowers. The structure has been designed to accommodate 400 to 500 persons, but it can be built one wing at a time for 200 or 300 residents. The residential wings of the "K" contain both single and double suites, each with its own sun balcony and kitchenette. A year-round sun deck on the roof. The center contains dining-room, hospital infirmary, hobby shops, sewing rooms, TV parlors, art rooms, library, general lounge rooms and facilities for such games as billiards, shuffleboard and the like. There will also be an auditorium, meeting hall for entertainment and for religious services of various faiths. The site for the building has not yet been chosen.

TOPICS Of the Town

APARTMENT PLANNED

For Retired Persons, Plans were announced this week for a new $5 million, residential cooperative apartment community especially designed for single persons or married couples over 55 years of age who want comfort and security in their later years without institutional regimentation.

To be called Princeton Manor or House, it will be built on 25-30 wooded acres of land "ten minutes from Nassau Hall," in the words of O. Kline Fulmer, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the new organization. No specific site has yet been chosen.

The non-profit, non-denominational community is to be financed by its residents as a cooperative. Prospective members buy a life-time occupancy contract which will cost from $8,500 to $12,000 for a single occupancy suite. One and two-bedroom suites will be available at higher prices.

In addition, the residents will pay a monthly operating charge which is expected to be somewhere between $120 and $140 per month per person. This charge will cover all meals, room cleaning, fuel, laundry, recreational facilities, utilities and real estate taxes.

If a member dies within two years of joining, his estate will receive a refund adjusted to the period of his occupancy and subject to the re-leasing of his apartment. If a member decides to move out, he will be reimbursed on a prorata basis.

Residents may take all their meals in the community dining-room, but each apartment will have its own kitchenette. The monthly charge includes three meals a day. There will be private dining-rooms for family functions, and private guest rooms which may be used for visiting relatives.

A building such as this would require zoning variances in almost any community. In the Borough of Princeton, of course, there is not enough land in the Township, which is the "ten minutes from Nassau Hall" requirement, there is land, but not, at the moment, multiple housing land.

A draft ordinance providing for multiple housing is now being considered by Township Committee, but before introducing it formally, Committee hopes to retain a Planning Consultant whose first job would be to examine this measure in some detail.

Proponents of the new project think that it would bring to the community in which it is built, a $5 million rateable and no school children. It would also remove some 25-30 acres into the general category of "open space." Trustees of the corporation hope to purchase land and obtain necessary zoning variances in time for ground-breaking late this year.

A Complete Infirmary. Residents will have the use of a complete infirmary equipped with pharmacy, radiological and therapy facilities and staffed 24 hours a day by nurses and aides. A physician will be available at all times. Some apartments will be connected to the infirmary for the convenience of ambulatory patients.

In addition to indoor game rooms, the apartment will have outdoors, golf-putting greens, individual garden plots, picnic facilities and exercise walks. A small bus will make several trips daily into Princeton so that residents need not have a car if they so prefer.

Applicants must be financially responsible and must pass a physical examination before entrance. Residents who become ill after entering the community will be cared for in the infirmary.

Trustees Listed. Trustees of the new organization are, besides Mr. Fulmer, Howard W. Hepp, registrar at Princeton University; W. H. Holsinger, investment counselor; the Rev. W. D. Wagoner, executive director of the Fund for Theological Education; Dr. W. H. York, University physician; Bruce H. French, counselor at law; Lennie L. Laughlin, formerly associate director of admissions at Princeton University; Mrs. Roland T. Ely; and Kenneth Chorley, chairman of the executive committee for Colonial Williamsburg. Applications may be obtained from Princeton Manor House, 341 Nassau Street.

BOND ISSUE RAISED

For New Township School. Approval by 371 to 200 was obtained from Princeton Township residents for the proposed Community Park School in Tuesday's election. The vote backed a $1,500,000 bond issue for construction in the Community Gardens site.

A total of 1107 ballots was cast with tabulation continuing until after midnight. The turnout is equivalent to almost 25 percent of the electorate. The budget was also backed: 867-211 for current expenses and 885-181 for capital outlays.

A. Robert Trudel, the lone incumbent seeking reelection, led the ticket with 370 votes. Named with him were Mrs. Jean A. McAndrew, 741, and Mrs. Dorothy Schoch, 618. Mrs. Nabel Rugg pulled 614.

Princeton Borough, With 248 votes out of more than 4000 registered, Graham Rohrer, board president, led the ticket with 229. Elected with him were William K. Evans, 199, and Mrs. Bernice Miller, 198.

West Windsor, W. Bradford Craig, one of two incumbents seeking re-election, led the voting with 241. Jesse Coleman, Jr., likewise running for a new three-year term, was successful with 191.

The third member named was Mrs. Eleanor Dearborn with 191, while John R. Janek, the loser, polled 178. The budget was approved, 207-43.

Lawrence Township. The victors were Henry P. Keller, 447; Donald L. Supper, 393; and Samuel L. Hack, 365. The budget was approved, 191 for current expenses and 592 to 183 for capital outlay. Among the five defeated candidates was an incumbent, Harry Kihn. Others were C. Dickey Dyer, 34, who lost by 13 votes; Thomas D. Tilton, Edward J. Dams and William N. Engler.

DEMOCRATS PICK HUGHES

As Candidate for Governor. The victory of Hugh H. Hughes, an attorney who has never before held public office, this week received organizational backing in the Democratic caucus for governor of New Jersey. Major primary opposition on April 18 is expected to be lacking as a result of Mr. Hughes' virtually unanimous endorsement at the last of a series of political meetings called by Gov. Meyner at Morven.

Former state Superior Court judge, Mr. Hughes resigned from the bench in November, 1957, to resume the practice of law. He and his wife and nine children live at 25 Whittier Avenue in Trenton. Catholic, Mr. Hughes would be the first member of that church to serve as New Jersey's governor if elected.

Republicans Split. Meanwhile, Republicans in Mercer County, faced with the probability of at least a three-way primary battle, have divided among themselves. County Republican Party Chairman, State Senator Walter H. Jones, A 12-to-11 vote in his favor, announced by County Chairman Joseph Pierson, is unacceptable to backers of State Senator Wayne Dumont and former Labor Secretary James Mitchell.

A group of 13 Princetonians signed a statement of dissent with the County Republican Committee's action and backing Mr. Mitchell as "by far the best Republican candidate we can put before the voters in November." The group includes William H. Sword, Lee H. Bristol, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Cuyler, Mr. and Mrs. Warren E. Hill, Dr. and Mrs. Elmer Alpert, Peter Scotece, David O. Johnson, John L. Hammer, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred O. Hoyt.

NASSAU INN TO GROW

Expansion Planned. The Nassau Inn will be enlarged since its construction in 1937, according to an announcement made this week by Princeton Municipal Improvement, owners of the Palmer Square Hotel.

An addition, 50 by 75 feet, will be built on the north of the present guest wing, extending the wing all the way to the Hallow sidewalk line. The unit will contain all 48 guest rooms—12 to a floor—and a new meeting room which will hold 300. The outdoor swimming pool, previously abandoned, will not be built this summer.

With the addition of the new meeting room, the Nassau Inn expects to be able to accommodate three conferences simultaneously. The new addition itself will be a complete conference center with air-conditioned parlors which can be moved at will. The 300-man meeting room will have blackboards, facilities for a public address system, numerous special electrical outlets and other conference aids, all of which can be controlled when the room is used for social functions, such as dances and banquets.

By using the new meeting room, which has been designed with a 12-foot beamed ceiling, and existing dining rooms, the Inn will be able to hold banquets for as many as 700 persons.

The new guest rooms will contain television and hi-fidelity sets, and the entire new unit will be air-conditioned through this central system.

P.M.I. hopes to begin construction in mid-March. It is expected that the new structure will cost $1 million, including the pool and terraces. The wing will be completed in March, 1962. William B. Taylor, hotel architect in New York, has designed the addition. Irwin M. Leighton of Philadelphia will be the contractor.

BUILDINGS FOR SALE

Conover Seeks Buyer. The Conover Motor Company, which has been a Ford dealer on Chambers Street since 1928 and a dealer in Princeton since 1920, is offering its Chambers Street property for sale. The company plans to move all its operations to the Route 206 location in Montgomery Township where it has been showing both new and used cars for the past two years.

The asking price for the Chambers Street property has not been revealed. Its true value, according to the Borough tax office, is $133,600. The property has 200 feet of frontage on Chambers Street and 20 feet deep. There are two automobile showrooms and a service department.

In Montgomery Township, Conover Motors now has five and one-half acres of land. The company plans to build a separate service facility with reception lounge and parts department. The present building will be a showroom which will be closed in front and open in the back.

If no buyer is found for the Chambers Street buildings, Conover Motors plans to develop the property, either as stores or apartments. Conover Motors was founded by Walter F. Conover, and has been operated in recent years by his sons, Walter J. Conover, Jr. and George W. Conover.

For Council, said at Tuesday's meeting, "The Borough will have to decide soon whether it wishes to participate in the Community Gardens project and to what extent." He pointed out the need for establishing a relationship with Township groups already involved in the project.

Mr. Austen also stated that he felt it was "very likely" that creation of a joint committee would mean abandoning the present recreation system in the Borough and would involve hiring professional recreation personnel. The recommendations, which originated with the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Recreation, were referred to the Council's recreation committee for more detailed study.

Assessments for sidewalk repair on Hamilton Avenue met with opposition from a pair of Hawthorne Avenue residents. Clyde V. Kiser and David Turney asserted that money for sidewalk repair was appropriated without mention of assessing residents and that parts of the newly-laid sidewalk were already in need of repair.

Arthur T. Brokaw, Borough engineer, replied that the contractor was under one-year bond to replace damaged sidewalk and attributed damage to the unusually severe winter. The assessments were then approved unanimously.

Council voted to set March 14 as the date for a public hearing to consider abolition of the household personal property tax. Mayor Raymond Beggars can't be choosers, to coin a phrase, and no one was complaining about the fact that this week's upswing—almost to 50—might not last. McLeanding it might be, but pleasant it was.

Best the Man could say for the next few days was that no return to the deep freeze is indicated. Temperatures will be slightly above normal; rain Friday or Saturday is possible.

Male called the tax "archaic" and said it could not be administered fairly. Councilman Walker commented that the tax would be equitable "once established," and added that its abolition would mean "representation without taxation" for certain Borough residents. (See "Report from the Mayor," page 10.)

Council voted unanimously to participate in both a federal and a state and regional community renewal program. The state and regional program will involve a contract with the state for continued planning, while the federal program will last only 18 months.

A traffic ordinance amendment, approved unanimously, provides for the installation of stop signs at Westcott Road and Library Place. A recommendation by Council's safety committee that a traffic light be installed at Avalon Place and Bayard Lane was endorsed unanimously by Council and will be forwarded to the State Highway Department.

Moves to redistrict Borough election districts three and four seemed to reach a standstill Tuesday night. The Borough Attorney reported that the County Election Board would be more likely to install an additional voting machine rather than redistrict to meet population shifts.

NEW RATE ANNOUNCED

In Parking Fee Schedule. A new schedule of parking fines has been announced by Theodore T. Tams, Jr., magistrate of the Princeton Borough Municipal Court. The change will go into effect March 1.

Under the new system, uniform fines will be levied for the first and repeated offenses. The most significant example would be the change in the overtime parking line. Henceforth, each parking violation will cost $2 instead of the former charge of $1 for the first offense which increased $1 for each successive offense in a calendar year.

The change was made when it was found that the present system is difficult and burdensome to administer. The city of Trenton and surrounding municipalities have already adopted a similar schedule, a study revealed. Mayor Raymond F. Male and the Borough Council have examined the new fines and have agreed with the advisability of the change.

THREE FINED

For Tavern Brawl. Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. levied fines of $35 each this week against Joseph H. Netter, 41 1/2 Witherspoon Street; Mrs. Doris Netter, 47 of Trenton; and James A. Wilson, 27, 284 Witherspoon Street, for fighting in Allen's Green Tavern, 150 Witherspoon Street. Mrs. Netter and Wilson were accused of assault and Joseph Netter of creating a disturbance while under the influence of alcohol.

In traffic court, Hans P. Bergmann, 21, 39 Chestnut Street, was fined $25 for parking too close to a fire engine. For merriment a car with an expired registration, Mrs. Justina Richardson-Dunne, 39, 250 Franklin Avenue, was fined $15.

News Of The THEATRES

LOVERS, ELVES FROLIC
On a Midsummer Night. The second offering of the Shakespeare season, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," is an unequalled delight. The fantastic and antic doings of the Elizabethan Athenians are cohesively portrayed by the Association of Producing Artists, augmented by six Princeton elves.

The two-story stage again provides opportunities for imaginative staging, and the second level is well suited to the other-worldly cavortings of the fairies. The scaffolding is unadorned in this production.

The four lovers, played by Jacqueline Brookes, Janis Young, Michael Ebert, and Peter Levin, are delightfully ridiculous, and we can only agree with Puck—"What fools these mortals be!" Miss Brookes deserves special mention for her portrayal of Helena, who pursues her object (Mr. Levin) relentlessly, and with the aid of the spirits—successfully.

Miss Young, as Hermia, plays all aspects of her role, from wide-eyed innocence to unleashed fury, with dispatch. The two men make convincing and exaggerated lovers.

"Over Hill, Over Dale." Rosemary Harris, as Titania, seems to float, rather than walk, over the stage, and her flute-like voice is the fairy world that travels from midnight to dawn. Her attendants, varnished and clothed in comically ragged trousers, add immeasurably to the charm of these scenes.

Richard Easton, as Oberon, is king and majestic—and all too human in his wishes. The descriptive passages and poetic lines come across very well in these capable hands.

The all-important role of Puck, alias Robin Goodfellow, is superbly taken by Nicholas Marz, who combines the poetry and impishness of the part with ease. As Oberon's henchman, he effortlessly sounds in and out of the darkness to cast his spell on the lovers. His chase scene with Lysander and Demetrius is a masterpiece.

Well Met by Moonlight. High points of the play are the reversal and performance of a "redoubtful scene of young Pyramus and his love, Thisbe, very tragical mirth." Keene Curtis, as Bottom, begins in an overly exaggerated fashion to create the role of buffoon, but develops his drollery into plausible implausibility by the time he acquires his ass's head.

Ralph Driscoll, as the lion, roars magnificently: Philip Andrus is an extremely coy Thisbe; and Tucker Ashworth plays a lugubrious moon. The extremely vocal wall is portrayed by a wide-eyed Rex Robbins, who is utterly oblivious of the laughter he provokes.

David Hooks makes a marvelous Quince, who does his best to organize the "true mechanicals." The last act of the play, when these six give their performance, is worth a bottle of vitamins.

MORE MATINEES PLANNED. Eight school matinees have been added to the five originally scheduled, following sold-out houses and increased demand. School matinees for which seats are available include "A Midsummer Night's Dream" on Wednesday, March 1; "King Lear" on March 2; "Twelfth Night" on March 3 and 9; and "As You Like It" on March 8.

With this rescheduling, the following evening performances have been cancelled: "Twelfth Night" on March 1 and 6; "King Lear" on March 2; "A Midsummer Night's Dream" on March 3; and "As You Like It" on March 18. Over 10,000 students have already bought tickets for the plays at the reduced school rate.

"Twelfth Night" will open next Thursday, February 22, with Richard Easton playing Orsino, Ellis Rath as Malvolio and Rosemary Harris as Viola. The second performance will be given at 8:30 next Friday.

"King Lear" will be presented this Thursday and Saturday at 8 p.m., with a 2 p.m. matinee scheduled for Sunday, February 26. "A Midsummer Night's Dream" will be repeated this Friday and next Saturday, February 25, at 8:30 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling McCarter at WA 1-8700, or writing Box 526.

good in a role tailored especially for her.

Set in and around Las Vegas, the story concerns a wealthy young divorcee and her entanglements with an aging cowhand. Mr. Miller overlooks no opportunity to let us know that this Apparently Simple Story is really invested with Cosmic Significance. The intrusive symbolic structure seems to have been tacked on by a palsied paperhanger, and its resolution is neither profound nor original. Peter De Vries had a word for it: Symbol Simon.

The Wackiest Ship to the Army (February 22-24) is the worst picture Jack Lemmon has made in two years, but the best the Playhouse has shown in five weeks. Lemmon himself is brilliant, as always. It's ironic that it took a basically serious film, "The Apartment," to bring about universal acceptance of Lemmon as a comic actor of the very first rank. It's ironic in addition to all the obvious reasons—because now Hollywood apparently is not going to let him do any more straight faces.

Which brings us to "The Wackiest Ship in the Army," an oddly disintegrated war film that is highly successful when it's being funny, but diffident and dull when it's being serious.

Lemmon is a young naval officer who is put in charge of a broken-down schooner in Australia. The crew is incompetent. Other officers are out to make Lemmon's life miserable. So far, so funny. But now the boat sets out to sea to do peripheral battle with the Japanese, and the film's "message" shifts from "People are funny" to "War is hell."

Ricky Nelson is the co-star. At one point he sings "Do You Know What It Means to Miss New Orleans?" Oldsters who remember Billie Holiday's rendition of the song in an otherwise undistinguished production called "New Orleans" may find it helpful to have ear-plugs ready for this sequence. The film is in CinemaScope and color.

Apparently feeling that Rick Nelson is strong stuff for kids, the Playhouse is offering a special young people's show at 1 P.M. on Saturday. The cartoons will be briefly interrupted by a CinemaScope epic called, "Sing Boy Sing." The star is Tommy Sands, whose chief musical distinction is that he is Frank Sinatra's son-in-law.

THE GARDEN

Oscar Wilde (February 14-18)—not to be confused with "The Green Carnation" (nee "The Trial of Oscar Wilde")—covers the playwright's involvement with the son of the Marquis of Queensbury, the morals trial where Wilde's blinding wit was insufficient to save his career, and his subsequent destruction.

The cast features Phyllis Calvert, John Neville, Sir Ralph Richardson and Robert Morley as Wilde. Jo Eisinger wrote the screenplay, and Gregory Ratoff directed with intelligence and taste. The cast is fine, with Morley and Richardson particularly impressive. Unless they've completed the introductory course in Tennessee Williams, youngsters will be better off watching a restful television program. Recommended.

La Strada (February 20), which won 1956's Oscar as best foreign-language film and set longevity records at a New York art house, is a strangely poignant drama starring Anthony Quinn, Giulietta Masina and Richard Basehart. Dealing with the relationship between a wandering, brusque circus strong man and a half-wild girl, the film is acted and directed with tenderness and skill.

There are two versions of this Italian film in circulation: one with dubbed English dialogue and one with subtitles. The Garden didn't know in advance.

VIKING FURNITURE
For Moderns. There isn't much about Route 33 to remind you of bold sea-raiders with long blond beards, so you may be somewhat surprised to learn of the Viking Furniture Shop, which has established itself on Route 33, not because the terrain is particularly Scandinavian, but because it's a good place to have a little furniture shop.

We use the term "little" in a relative sense: Viking is not an immense barn of a showroom. It is, rather, a spacious shop which is full to the gulleys of Scandinavian—chiefly Danish—furniture and accessories. In this place you can buy anything from a set of exquisite little teak egg cups to a regal rosewood sideboard, from a portable fireplace to a linen tapestry hanging from Sweden.

The rosewood buffet is six feet long with 10-inch stainless steel legs to hold it off the floor. The front looks like a solid piece of oiled rosewood, but it has been artfully made into two tambour doors that slide around inside the chest when you push them open.

Unless you feel the wood carefully with a finger you cannot detect the divisions that give it the tambour flexibility. Pretty impressive, on the whole.

Another sizeable piece is the cocktail table 33 by 52 inches, made of walnut with spruce spines that run the length of the table. On a more modest scale, there are nests of tables that combine walnut and tile work.

Gerdau has designed the Scandinavian Clipper chair, a recliner-with-ottoman that has a sculptured upholstery back and shaped wooden arms that give the impression of a gull in flight. The same design presents a dining table, trestle style, that opens to 102 inches. Buy a dining bench in teak, or choose it in black.

Those Swedish tapestries consist of stylized groups of figures woven with high color into linen pieces about the size of tea towels up to some about as large as a tablecloth. There's "Cactus," "Women With Long Hair," and so on.

A Danish styled hanging system will appeal to people with small floors. The system includes wall desks that fold out, magazine racks, hi-fi cases, glass - doored cupboards, shelves, a small chest, and so on. There are said to be 16 million possible combinations, but who has such a big wall?

Viking Furniture maintains a decorating service, incidentally, which you may use without charge. The shop will take you to any showroom in New York while you search for the precise piece you want. But the Route 33 shop itself is so full of every conceivable piece of furniture for people who decorate in the Scandinavian manner that really all you need to do is stand in the middle of the shop and say "I want that."

Those fireplaces, by the way, start at $139 and go to $400. You reach Viking Furniture by driving out Quaker Bridge Road to Clarksville, then continuing to Mercerville until you run into Route 33. Turn left (northeast) and drive on Route 33 for about two miles.

The shop is on the left, one of a group of shops all under one roof. Hours are 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays.

WHILE YOU'RE UP
Consider Gretchen's. People who buy furniture don't necessarily sew, but after you've visited Viking, you might just as well keep going along Route 33 until it joins Route 130. After you've gone along 130 for a time, you will come to Gretchen's Fabrics, which you can recognize as a good light year away by the immense sign painted on the roof.

The long and the short of it here is spring wool, spring silk, spring linen. Look at the cashmere in bright pink (big color this spring), pale butter gold, spicet, powder or Dior blue. Some are in a Jacquard pattern, some with a faint self-check, all 54 inches wide.

Silk linen looks like shantung but wears better. You'll find it at Gretchen's in black, brown, beige, navy, bright pink and pale flesh. Gretchen, an expert needlewoman, likes to suggest fabric combinations and she showed us an opulent beige gold wool which would combine beautifully with silk linen in a zinnia print of sand, coffee and beige.

Linen has been exposed to some all - over embroidery which makes it memorable enough for a special spring and Lighting fixtures. In the form of table lamps, chandeliers, hanging lamps and goodness knows what else are particularly important in the scheme of things at Viking Furniture, the shop whose other felicities we discuss elsewhere on this page.

Two Danish cylinders hang from the ceiling, one slightly higher than the other, each one wrapped with lengthwise strands of brown or rust wool. A standing cylinder, about a foot high, has been similarly wrapped with a natural wool yarn that filters the yellow light in a warm and pleasant manner.

summer dress - probably a sheath, wouldn't you say? Turquoise embroidery on white, wide - spaced petit point on lilac, yellow spring flowers on white.

Prints are brighter and more dramatic than you have seen them in many seasons. A silk print comes in hot pink, bright mustard and lime, with colors nuzzled together as though they were pieces of broken glass. In its complementary print of purple and emerald, here is quite a stained glass effect. Another silk print is turquoise on white with orchid leaves.

But don't be alarmed. There is a quiet glen plaid in tan - Continued on Page 8

NEW Metalist LINE

Right now many stations are broadcasting glorious music stereophonically, using separate FM and AM channels. Don't miss this new dimension in listening pleasure. EICO's new ST66 has two separate and entirely separate tuners, one for FM, the other for AM, mounted on the same chassis.

*Play them together for FM-AM stereo reception.
Both tuners are capable of receiving perfect, distortion-free, drift-free reception, preventing eye-opening traveling sound indicators which indicate exaggeration points at the exact center of each broadcast channel and the entire set is easy to tune from hit to hit. The FM "tuner" and the AM "tuner" are the same, and the entire tuning assembly has been designed and constructed at the factory, reducing wiring to a minimum and assuring perfect performance.

will be available in a short time.

Art on a High Level

A group of oils by Freda R.
Miller has been arranged on the walls of McCarter Theatre's upper lobby to entertain groundlings and stiffs who like to commune with one art during the intermission of another.

The Miller oils, executed on panels, will be on display through March 4. From March 4 to 21, there will be a group of large oil canvases by George Sears Greene, and after the Greene exhibit, there will be a show of framed modern graphic works which will continue until April 1.

The art is being shown at McCarter through the Little Gallery.

works, are Max von Sydow, Birgitta Valberg, Gunnel Lindholm and Birgitta Pettersson.

Based, we are told on a 13th century legend and a Swedish folk song, the story concerns a young girl who sets out happily for a long ride to church, where she intends to light candles for the Holy Virgin.

Along the way she is raped and murdered. Her father later seeks out and slaughters her attackers, and finally questions God as to why one so innocent as his daughter should have been the victim of such evil. Eventually the father promises to build a church on the spot where his daughter died, and a spring miraculously trickles forth and bursts into a stream at the site.

As indicated, some of the above is pretty brutal stuff.
This department has some thoughts on the increasing sadism of the movies, but we will not add expressing them until the next Alfred Hitchcock or Walt Disney film comes around. "The Virgin Spring" is too fine a motion picture for such protests to be meanin-ful. Recommended.

READY TO GO

From Mayme Mead. Tailor-

Mead rack a collection of whispering silks and price tags as gentle as their lines.
Examine a light cherry wool with collared, buttoned, large diamond jacket whose sleeve has a terminal slit instead of a cuff.

There is a sheer knit blouse in exactly the same color to go underneath. It has short sleeves. This three-piece suit also comes in a rich, powder blue or a deep lilac. Another style with box jacket comes in a tweedy blue or tweedy light green. This is a standard collar and self buttons.

A linen suit from Davidow comes in powder blue with four flaps concealing four front pockets. The jacket has a casual notch at the neckline and pearl buttons. A cotton suit in red has two pockets placed squarely in the middle of the jacket, midway between hem and shoulder. Davidow's imported cotton has four-square pockets and a peaceful language plaid. (Woods in Davidow's, too, but you probably know this already.)

Glenn plaid—an unusual pattern for spring, but around quite a lot this year—has been used for a jacket dress in cotton. There is a flat bow at the neckline of the dress and it shows between the reverses of the jacket collar.

Pelitte suits will welcome a silk print, stained glass style, with lime lining inside the jacket and a wide neckline on the dress. Another petite in quite a different vein, is made of white nylon with horizontal stripes of raspberry, purple, green and blue against white.
The dress is a sheath with wide straps and a square neckline. Fluttering ribbons of blue and green come down the skirt from the belt.

Just to make you wistful about the spring, Mayme Mead had white Bermudas with life-size daisies, pansies and zinnias sown all over the white field. Solids are royal purple linen, or melon or lime. Other prints are Joseph's-coat hop-sacking, or blue cornflowers on white.

Reply to Mr. Samuels.

To the Editor of Princeton Times: As the "perpetrator" of a resolution which was unanimously adopted at the last annual meeting of the Princeton Hospital Corporation, February 29, 1960, perhaps you will permit me to answer as briefly as possible one or two points of fact in Mr. Samuels' letter of last week.

This resolution called for the appointment of a committee by the hospital trustees to study and report on the general principles of (1) methods of obtaining a broader corporation membership and (2) the desirability of rotation in the election of trustees. This committee of the Friends of the Princeton Hospital (including Mr. McAlpin) were aware of this initial action.

But as the months rolled by, and the December deadline for Hospital Corporation membership approached and there was still no report from this committee, either through the press, letters, word of mouth, or in any manner — not even bills for renewed dues from present members — then and only then were the trustees of the Princeton Hospital organized. As one of its original sponsors I can testify that this was a spontaneous reaction which gained rapid impetus purely on its merits and with a minimum of solicitation, and has therefore proved conclusively that community interest in the hospital is far greater than its trustees realized or than I even hoped. I am only sorry that the activity came from the outside in, rather than from the inside out.

Secondly, Mr. Samuels states that of the 20 names of families or individuals factually there were over 30 in the three published advertisements sponsoring the Friends; only five had previous to 1960 been members of the corporation. The implication in this statement, Mr. Samuels, is not quite cricket! Yet nothing could point out more cogently the very point the Friends wish to make: the need for more citizens to join the Hospital Corporation and for more information on how to do so.

For if you will look at the records you will find that all of these people give their sponsorship have been contributors to the hospital in many ways, some over a very long period: to the several special building funds, to the School of Practical Nursing, to the United Community Fund, as volunteer workers and even as patients. But because of this special unpublicized and little known rule about the extra earmarked contribution of $5 that were not members of the corporation, they are not new friends at all, but very old friends and their one objective is to aid the Princeton Hospital and the Princeton community.

Struggle Disengaged.

To the Editor of Town Topics: The Princeton Childbirth Education League voted at a regular board meeting in 1960 to disengage itself from further political struggle with Princeton Hospital. Our past efforts were consuming too much energy and were distracting us from our main purpose of childbirth education.

Three of our members are also active, as individuals, with the Friends of Princeton Hospital. (Most people in Princeton belong to more than one organization.) Otherwise, the only common denominator to both PCBE and the Friends of Princeton Hospital is a wish for the best possible hospital for this community.

Mrs. Rebecca Sincum
President, Childbirth Education League

Hospital Care Excellent.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It seems to me that statements made by the "Friends" of Princeton Hospital as reported in your February 6-11 issue give a very misleading picture of the hospital. They seem to ignore the most pertinent question of all — what kind of care does a patient at Princeton Hospital receive?

In the past six years, members of our immediate family have been patients at Princeton Hospital on seven different occasions for periods ranging from two days to two weeks. Our experience has included the maternity and pediatric departments as well as general hospital care and has run the gamut of ward, semi-private and private accommodations.

I, myself, was a patient for almost two weeks a little more than a year ago; another member of the family was there for two weeks within the past three months. On each occasion we have been greatly impressed by the skill and efficiency of the staff, the excellent equipment, the delicious food, the high standards of cleanliness and perhaps most important — the general attitude of friendliness and concern.

It is my understanding that several independent authorities have given Princeton Hospital an excellent rating after careful study.

Since the responsibility for running a hospital must ultimately rest with its board of trustees, I, for one, would like to commend the Board of Trustees of Princeton Hospital for the fine hospital care available in this community.

"Not to Destroy—To Fulfill."

To the Editor of Town Topics: Since the organization of the Friends of Princeton Hospital appears to have engendered many "inquiries" as to its nature and motivation, we as members of its Executive Committee would like to make certain facts absolutely clear.

First, our purposes are set forth in our Constitution as follows:

(1) To assist and support the Princeton Hospital in its efforts to provide the best medical care for the citizens of this Community.

(2) To bring about and maintain a large and representative membership of the Hospital Corporation.

(3) To secure the nomination and election of the most qualified persons as Trustees of the Hospital, in accordance with the general principle of rotation in office.

(4) To insure government of the Hospital Corporation which is responsive to the interest and needs of the public.

(5) To assist the Hospital in raising funds for capital improvements and other purposes.

(6) To secure the best possible relations between the Hospital and the Community at large.

Second, the group was organized because many people believed, from their observation and experiences with the Hospital over the past several years, that only by such organization could their objectives be achieved.

For example, we are informed that two years ago Continued on Page 10

Report from THE MAYOR

A Matter of Judgment. It is often the case that important decisions cannot be made by slide rule or automatic tabulating machines. When all the facts are gathered, the selection of the right alternative depends on the exercise of sound judgment on a host of factors that can not be weighed or measured with absolute precision.

Such a problem will face Mayor and Council in connection with the proposed abandonment of the household personal property tax. Chapter 5 of the Laws of 1960 allows each municipality the option of raising or abandoning this tax.

Based on the factual reports and views of our Assessor, Ed Watson, and after long consideration of the pros and cons, it has been decided to introduce on Tuesday the ordinance that would kill this awkward and inequitable tax. A public hearing on the ordinance will provide the citizens a chance to state their views on this complicated problem. We should try to provide some background information to help with their consideration.

A Shift of Burden. One fact is that in 1960 this tax on household personal property was levied on the basis of an assessment of $885,110 in owner-occupied real estate. In 1961, of $613, the tax levied from this source was $94,237.

In addition, an assessment on such property in rental properties amounted to $287,770, with a tax yield of $16,454. The abandonment of this form of taxation would therefore shift the combined total of $70,811 to the other assessment base.

Council wrestled with the problem of determining how much effect this would have on individual homeowners. The answers are hypothetical; but the evidence seemed to be convincing that the shift would be minor. The move would be the fairest solution to a long-standing New Jersey tax headache. Repealing the tax under the law would necessitate separate tax billings, appraisals of personal property to substitute for the guesses that have been carried forward year to year on the books.

It is a fact, not an opinion, that the present system is unfair, inequitable, and almost impossible to administer. As Chairman of the public hearing on March 14, the Mayor will try to answer questions and to present the issues.

It is not an easy subject. But it affects us all.

Safety on Bank Street. On Friday afternoon, the Borough Safety Committee, under the chairmanship of the Police, met with seven residents of Bank Street to review a number of safety problems. An hour and a half of frank exchange of views, several proposals suggested in bringing general agreement.

The next steps include study, and report from the Chief of Police and the Borough Engineer with respect to specific details of the proposals. The safety committee will, at its next regular meeting, present recommendations to the Council for action.

On the Schedule. The regular weekly "Tell it to the Town" meetings will be held on Friday, February 17, and Friday, February 24, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings.

Also on last week's schedule, the delightful dinner-dance of the P.E.A., an occasion when Borough and Township policemen and their wives enjoy a social get-together. A highlight was the presentation of life memberships to retired Sgt. Carl Anderson of the Borough and to retired Township Magistrate Louis Gerber. Each had served some 30 years.

The same evening, the Princeton Lions Club held their annual benefit dinner. On Thursday, the Mayor also met with the new Joint Library Board. This is a strong board and its members are working together in a concerted effort to improve library service to this community.

Guests at the meeting was Dr. Joseph Wheeler, a distinguished literary expert, the author of the 1959 report on the Princeton library, and for many years librarian of the famous Enoch Pratt Library in Baltimore. As a laborer of love, Dr. Wheeler had discovered possible sites for a future Princeton library adequate to our needs and he mined no words in spelling out his recommendations.

There are, of course, no present building plans. But the new board faces the old fact that the present quarters at the Balnharrie House are bulging at the seams.

Mailbox

There were only 28 annual members of the Hospital Corporation, and last year there were 77. At the 1960 annual meeting, a motion was adopted enlarging the membership, but no action by the Trustees has been taken until after the Friends started their membership drive, late in the year. Now, largely as a result of the Friends' organization, there are about 750 annual members, in addition to a fairly small number of about 100 life members. Membership in the Corporation is of vital importance not only to the hospital but also because Trustees can be chosen only from among the members.

Moreover, at the last annual meeting a motion was adopted that the largest number of one who has since joined the Friends) that a committee be appointed by the Trustees to study and recommend changes in the by-laws to recognize the principle of rotation in office; the shift would be such that a study was made but no results thereof have yet been made public or acted upon by the board.

Third, we have not taken it upon ourselves either to judge the merits of the various controversies and complaints in which the Hospital has been involved, or to have we taken any hard and fast position with respect to the number of consecutive terms which a Trustee should serve. As to the first, we ask only that a fresh look be taken at the situation by some new and qualified Trustees.

As to the principle of rotation, we recognize also the need for continuity and for striking a happy balance between the merits of change. With nine out of the 15 elected Trustees having served terms from nine to 18 years, we do have that to date the balance has been too heavily weighted in favor of self-perpetuation.

Finally, as a group we do not necessarily endorse the individual views or grievances of any particular member. An organization we seek only the attainment of our stated objectives; and we sincerely hope that the smoke has cleared away, both the Hospital government and the community will find that we have come not to destroy but to fulfill.

Thanks to the Harts.

To the Editor of Town Topics: We are making plans to copy the letter we have sent to New Jersey Bell Telephone Co., the Borough and Township Public Departments and the Princeton Fire Department.

"We should like to express our profound gratitude to all who responded so immediately to our recent call for help: to the telephone operator for her quick efficiency, to the police for their prompt arrival to our rescue, and to the three volunteers for their extraordinary efforts on their extraordinary efforts on that bitterly cold night of January 20th in stubbornly fighting what must have seemed a well-nigh hopeless battle."

"Had it not been for the dedication of everyone present, and the dogged persistence of our volunteers in particular, the destruction of our house would have been complete. In addition, the sympathetic concern of one and all for our situation, and the individual efforts of help which went far beyond the call of duty, will always be deeply appreciated."

"To the countless kind friends and neighbors who rallied to our aid with offers of shelter, warmth and food, doing whatever was humanly possible in the emergency, we can only again repeat our heart-felt though inadequate thanks. It would be impossible to enumerate the hundreds of generous and thoughtful acts in which their help given us comfort and cheer in a time of trouble."

"It has long been a commonplace that to be 'citizens of Princeton' is an honor and a privilege, but now the true meaning of the phrase has been brought home to us in an unforgettable way."

Rescue Equipment Inadequate.

To the Editor of Town Topics: I read your account of the fire which destroyed the house of Mr. and Mrs. Hart, and I was pleased to note that the local fire companies performed faithfully in combating it. For this they should be commended.

However, the circumstances of the rescue of the couple only strengthened an opinion I earlier expressed as to the weakness inherent in our system of getting help to such a disaster. A very slight change in the situation might have brought tragic loss of life besides what damage was done to property. The fact that the children had been there had there been no porch roof, and had there been no ladder, might have saved them. It is to imagine how much more costly the fire might have been.

I believe that this event should be taken as a warning that until we provide for the instantaneous dispatch of adequate rescue equipment to fires we are playing fast and loose with human life in this community.

Question of the Week

Question: Has this winter, the worst since 1881, proved to be annoying or enjoyable to you?

Where asked: Palmer square

Renee R. Carazall, 19 Leigh Avenue, electrician: It hasn't been enjoyable, I can say that. I keep thinking of the poor animals out in the field. I'm a hunter and I know these animals are starving. The bark is gone, the honey suet is gone and I don't think even a deer wants to dig through two feet of snow to get it. People worry about animals being killed. In a winter like this, it is a question of either starving to death or being shot by a hunter. They can have the old-time winters as far as I'm concerned. I hope one like this doesn't come too often.

Laurence Hunt, 63 Stanworth Lane, third-grader: Well, I think it was fun, except when I got too wet and had to stay in all day.

Laura Schleyer, 184 Prospect Avenue, kindergarten: Enjoyable, 'cause there's snow and I like to play and throw snowballs with my friends.

Mrs. Adeline Prevostano, 42 Carman Place, housewife: Both. Annoying because we haven't been able to shovel enough to get out, but it has been enjoyable for the children. And we have had a lot more home life. We enjoy it leisurely dinner, sit down, talk and enjoy each other's company—something we haven't done in a long time. For once, everybody isn't in a rush to go some place.

Robert Ayers, 33 Allison Road, student, Princeton Country Day School: It's been very annoying to me because I've been out most of the day shoveling snow.

Miss Jacqueline Brooks, New York City, actress: Since I am here with the Shakespear Company, it has been kind of sad because we have had to cancel one performance and our business has been hampered by the weather. Otherwise, I think it's great. It is a lot better here than in New York.

Joseph Wheeler, Maxwell Lane, retired: Very enjoyable. It's nice to have a little excitement for a change, shoveling snow and all that. A little white snow to wash our sins away.

Mrs. Michael Remus, 90 Kingston Road, housewife: One word only, annoying. We have had to shovel out our driveway four times so far this winter.

William Fry, Doylestown, Pa., research engineer for Matherborn Project: Some of both. It's enjoyable because it binds me to some of the stories my grandfather used to tell. I know the old timers weren't kidding. He used to tell me how they hid ox roasts and horse sleighs on the Delaware River. It's annoying because I have to drive 40 miles one way to reach the Forrestal Center.

Mrs. Robert Knight, Plainsboro, homemaker: When my furnace went off I was rather annoyed but it has given me chance to catch up on my reading and sewing. And I've enjoyed neighbors coming in for tea. I think this winter has made people more self-reliant.

Donald Malcolm, 115 E. Delaware Avenue, Pennington, employee for ETS: Annoying. My immediate problem is after several months of reading through radio catalogs and finally making a selection of a 54-51 set, I went to New York to order it three days before the storm. Now the delivery and everything else has bogged down.

Mrs. Karl Dressler, 80 N. Stanworth Drive, housewife: I enjoyed it. I have three little boys and they have never been so healthy. They go out sledding every day and just love it. We are Swiss and this winter has been no problem to us. A little car trouble but that is all.

Paul Rossi, 27 Lawn Park Avenue, Trenton, truck driver: Very much annoying in my type of work, as I am a truck driver for Railway Express. Driving is pretty bad in the side streets. Otherwise I don't mind it at all. I'm used to the cold. I was stationed in Newfoundland for four years.

Mrs. J. Barkley Rosser, 218 Prospect Avenue, housewife: Enjoyable. This winter has been fun for me. It's an adventure. I was born in Florida but my home is in Ithaca, N.Y., and this is nothing compared to winters there. It was 20 below there last week. If you live in Ithaca, it prepares you for winters anywhere.

Bert L. Gulick, 1082 Kingston Road, farmer: It was enjoyable at first but as the cold weather continued it got quite tiresome, it being the coldest spell in 80 years. Also with modern equipment such as pipes and oil heaters in the barn we have been annoyed somewhat by freezing pipes. Outside of that we take it as a regular winter. We all like a little snow. In days gone by we used to get out sleighs and drive up Nassau Street with horse and bells. Today we can't have those nice times anymore. Your modern automobile rules out sleigh rides and people demand roads be plowed clean immediately. As late as just before the first World War there used to be sleigh ride racing on Nassau Street.

Miss Hazel Benjamin, 142 Linden Lane, librarian: One's attitude changes with the years. If I were 16, I'd probably find it enjoyable, but as a home owner and a car owner it was too much trouble. I haven't been in my driveway but one week this winter. I have to do all my own shoveling, too.

Daniel Quick, 215 Henry Hall, University student: Annoying certainly as far as getting around in a car is concerned. Otherwise I haven't minded it other than a little snow shoveling.

Miss Marguerite McCreagh, 650 Ewing Street: It's been rather annoying in some ways because I don't like ice or snow. It is hard walking, especially when sidewalks aren't cleaned and there are no pathways. I like clear, cold weather, though, so I haven't minded that part of the winter.

SPORTS ACTION AHEAD

Marking Alumni Weekend. The biggest athletic weekend of the winter season will start Friday to mark the return of Princeton alumni to the campus for Saturday festivities. Basketball games against Columbia and Cornell are on the Dillon Gym schedule while strong Harvard teams will provide the opposition in hockey and swimming.

Anticipated victories for the Tiger quintet will strengthen its hold on first place in the Ivy League, a grip that was shaken but by no means jarred loose by last week's loss to Yale at New Haven. The setback will prevent Princeton from becoming the first team in a decade to finish the league season unbeaten, but there is no reason to believe it will not win the Ivy championship.

After running in front of Brown at Providence throughout a fairly close contest, the Tigers could not contain Yale in the second half. The game was their third in five days and that, combined with the enervating road trip, simply used up more gas than the Orange and Black quintet had in the tank.

It was a 66-61 final against Brown, with the victors holding a 41-31 lead at the intermission. The Bruins' rugged

BARRY VAN GERBIG

Princeton Goalie

When Yale's hockey team skated off Baker Rink on the short end of a 3-1 score Saturday afternoon, Barry Van Gerbig had compiled an enviable personal record. The Ellis invariably finds in the Ivy League's first division, but in the three years that Van Gerbig has been Princeton's varsity goalie, they have never beaten the Orange and Black Bers.

His latest effort was one of the best of his career: only a deflected shot from a face-off, while Princeton was a man short, prevented him from scoring a shutout. In all, he kicked out 32 shots, many of them made at point-blank range and requiring the quickest kind of reflexes.

While some of the one-sided scores against the Tigers this season shroud the fact, Van Gerbig is one of the best goalies in the hockey-minded northeast. The occasional big margins recorded on the debit side are an indication that the Tigers have sometimes been completely outmanned—not that their goalie was off on sight.

A St. Paul's graduate who won the identical school athletic awards that his father, Howell Van Gerbig, Princeton '24, had before him, the Tiger hockey captain plans to continue playing the sport after graduation. He hopes for a berth with the U.S. National select; if not with it, certainly with the St. Nick's.

Over the years, Van Gerbig has picked up some 50 stitches.

as necessitated by flying pucks, all prefers not to wear a mask. For 48 hours before Christmas, one even job of minor surgery kept him on a liquid diet.

Barry Van Gerbig has twice been goalie on the second and All-Ivy team and last season was one of two named to the All-East squad. In his first five Ivy games to date, he has allowed only 11 goals—a 2:1 ratio that may well continue against every opponent save title-bound Harvard. All-Ivy selection and a place among the top hockey players in the history of the sport here seem certain to climax his Princeton career.

Philadelphia—the Ellis lost twice by upwards of ten points.

Columbia and Cornell, Princeton's weekend opponents, are unpredictable teams in that both have won on the road while losing at home. The Lions, for example, defeated both Penn and Dartmouth on their own courts but later lost a one-sided contest to the Indians in New York. Cornell trimmed last-place Harvard at Cambridge but dropped an overtime contest to the Crimson Saturday at Ithaca.

A sharpshooting sophomore, 6-3 Fred Portnoy, is Columbia's biggest gun, with senior Ed Auzenberg another threat. The Lions lack both balance and experience, and proved no great problem when the Tigers' opened their title defense in early January with a 16-6 victory at New York.

Cornell is the better team between the two, but having topped the Red at Ithaca last month, Princeton figures to duplicate the victory here. John Petry, 6-4, and Don Strafer, 6-4, are the Ithacans' tall men, with veterans Ron Ivkovich and Bill Baugh leading experience. Like Yale, Cornell remains in the running but must win Friday at the Palestra and here Saturday if it is to have a shot at the title.

SKATERS TOP YALE

On Fine Game by Cook. A better defensive performance than it has given in several weeks and a standout afternoon credited to Kingston's Johnny Cook carried Princeton's hockey team to victory Saturday over Yale. The Blue came into Baker Rink leading the league with a 4-0 mark and left two points behind Harvard, which whaled Dartmouth, 9-2.

The Tigers got an early jump when Cook and Perry Hall set up Doug Davis for a high shot into the right corner of the Eli cage at 4:23 of the first round. Princeton had much the better of the first 20 minutes, outshooting the losers, 12-7, and generally controlling the action.

A good feed pass from Davis got Cook into the Yale defensive zone with 13 minutes of the second period gone, and he elevated shot to the far corner again beat goalie Charlie Hamlin. The count remained 2-0 as the second round ended.

Sports In Princeton

next Wednesday night at New Haven.

SWIMMERS SCORE

As Records are set. Setting pool records at Hanover in the butterfly, breaststroke and backstroke, Princeton's swimming team topped Dartmouth, 53-42. Jim Griffin's time in the 200-yard butterfly — a fine 2:07.8 — broke his own Princeton mark.

Harvard will come here Saturday as the very opponent to the championship which Yale has held for the past 10 seasons. The Crimson has extreme ability and depth, and last Saturday hung a 58-39 defeat on the Navy team which broke Yale's long string with a one-point victory.

PEWEE NEXT FOR

Of countless Little Tigers, Marooned in a protracted slump that has proved to be as escape-proof as Alcatraz, the Little Tigers of Princeton High School will play host to a strong Peddie School quintet Friday at 3:15. They will remain home for a Tuesday contest with Hamilton High School, also set for 3:15. Currently in their next to last week of action, the embattled PHS players have not won since December 29, when they beat Hunterdon Central for their only victory in 12 starts. Hunterdon avenged that defeat Friday when it turned the tables on PHS, beating Coach Tony Borzok's players, 62-43. The victory was Central's ninth in 13 games; for the losers, it was their tenth consecutive setback. The contest was played at Hunterdon.

The game was close throughout the first two periods. At the half, the home team led by a slim 21-19 margin. But in the third period Central reeled off seven straight points to put the game out of reach. High scorer for the Blue and White was Charlie Pemberton with 19.

Last Wednesday, PHS dropped a 56-42 decision to Freehold. It was a make-or-buy game of a contest originally scheduled for December 13, snow had forced postponement twice.

PHS FRESHMEN NOW 4-1

Top Peddie, 56-38. Hopes for a brighter basketball picture at Princeton High School in a couple of years are being based on the performance of this season's freshman team, which has won nine of its first ten games. A contest of considerable interest against the Trenton Catholic freshmen is scheduled for this Thursday afternoon on the Blue and White court.

The latest triumph was recorded Friday against the Peddie School freshmen, a 56-30 victory for the team that is coached by Harry Zell. Don Cooper paced the scoring with 12 points, followed by Larry Madden with 10 and John Bauer with eight. The half-time score was 30 to 12 for PHS.

HUN SCHOOL JOLTED

By Double Setback. Any hope that Hun School may have envisaged of staying among the leaders in the Penn-Jersey League went down the drain last week as it lost two league games to teams it had beaten earlier in the season. As a result, Hun now 3-3 in the league, has been forced to think in terms of next year. "This is the first time that I can remember that my team has outscored the other team, outshot it from the floor and from the foul line, and still managed to lose," These words from Hun coach Dan Barren after a close 47-43 defeat by Germantown in Philadelphia on Friday.

The Red and Black outscored its hosts, 38 to 22; was 8 percent better than its opponent from the foul line and 2 percent more accurate in shooting from the floor. Why, then, the loss? "They took 11 more shots than we did," was coach Barren's explanation.

Three days earlier against Bryn Athyn at Bryn Athyn, it was the same story for Hun. In losing by the narrowest of margins, 48-47, Hun sank 43 percent of its shots — its best performance to date — but took only 47 shots, ten less than its opponent. Another factor that hurt Hun, which had beaten Bryn Athyn in its first game of the season, was its poor performance at the foul line. "We missed 16 free throws," said Barren, "and that was the ball game right there."

The Red and Black will attempt to rebound Friday when meets Solisbury at the Princeton Seminary gymnasium. Solisbury, a defending League champions lost to Hun in a thrilling 69-58 contest in the campaign. Tuesday, Hun will engage Moorestown at Moorestown. Both are league contests.

SHIP-POINT REACHED

In YMCA Industrial League. At the end of the first half of play in the YMCA Industrial League, RCA continues to pace the other five teams, having won five and lost none. Firmly entrenched in second place is YMCA (4-1) with Opinion Research Corporation, 3 B's, and Food Machinery & Chemical bunched in third spot with identical 2-3 marks.

RCA took the measure of the 3 B's, 48-35, to remain unbeaten. The Labs' leading scorer, Vince Boocanuso, came through with 13 points to pace the victors. Joe Burns, Bob Duncan, and Jerry Shaheen each chipped in with seven. In a losing cause, Ray Cervera tallied 18 for the 3 B's.

Between them, Dick Nassan and Rick Riccio scored 22 points, more than enough to beat winless RCA Astro and enable YMCA to strengthen its hold on second place. No Astro player could score more than four points. In the evening's final game, ORC was edged by FMC 38-28. Garry Gallagher and Homer Butler had 11 and 10 points, respectively, for the winners.

PCD SEXTE UNBEATEN

After First Four Games. A victory and a tie were recorded by Princeton Country Day School's hockey team on its annual invasion of New England. The Blue and White rallied to earn a 3-3 tie with the Taft School Juniors, and then defeated Kent Junior sextet, 3-1.

Bob Griggs scored twice in the game with Taft, Ford Fraker making the other goal. Against Kent, Tom Chubel, Dave Tibbals and Fraker did the scoring.

Monday saw PCW top Lawrenceville with ease, 7 to 2. Kane and Griggs each scored twice, with other goals credited to Chubel, Fraker and Griff. Saragobian, coach Bud Tibbals' team has a record of three victories and a tie to date.

LARRIES TO MEET HILL

In Basketball, Hockey. Lawrenceville's basketball and hockey squads will play host to arch-rival Hill School in a pair of 2 p.m. contests on Saturday. Wednesday afternoon games were also scheduled for both teams, the quintet playing Princeton High School at Lawrenceville, and the hockey team facing the Princeton University freshmen at Baker Rink.

Clark Conner's 23 points led Lawrenceville to a 71-50 conquest of Peddie School's quintet last Wednesday. Chuck Miller capped with 21 markers for Lawrenceville. Peddie scored only six points on field goals but picked up 22 from the free throw line.

Conner poured in 21 points last Saturday as the Larries rolled to their eighth win against two losses, crushing the Usalia College freshmen, 79-51. Miller had 17 and Ron Benson 16 to round out the list of Larrie scorers in double figures. Usalia trailed by nine points going into the final period, but Lawrenceville outscored the visitors, 25-6, in the final chapter.

The Ford Peebles inflicted a 5-0 defeat on the Lawrenceville hockey team last Wednesday at West Point.

A COMFORTABLE FEELING

Is your reaction when you enter the living room of this antique stone house, with its wood-burning fireplace, built-in cupboards and bookcases, and glowing oil beams and floors. The dining room, kitchen, screened porch and powder room are in the new wing, and there are three cheerful bedrooms and a bath on the second floor. Full cellar with a workshop, and attic with storage for a room. There are more than two acres of rolling ground, most of which is fenced, and a 20 by 30 garage with a lift above and three box stalls attached. The setting and location are quite special, and we will be delighted to give you all the details. Asking $25,500.
